REV. GRANT A. ROBBINS DID IN SERMON DELIVERED SUNDAY MORNING.

THE BIBLE WAS TAKEN AS AUTHORITY

Practical Discourse on Practical Things Woven Around the Parable of Dives and Lazarus—The Use of Money.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church in a powerful sermon delivered yesterday morning, took occasion to in-dorse the fight now being made by the Democrat-Sentinel on the "money sharks" of the community. The sermon was built around the parable of Dives and Lazarus, and was a practical discourse on practical affairs.

He said, in part:

"We are not to understand that Christ came to teach that it was a crime to possess money. There are two things to consider: First, how a man gets his money, and, second, how he spends it or what he does with it. Let us look at the first for a moment. The relation of a man to his wealth and to society is to be determined in large measure by how he obtains his money. If he obtains it by rendering service to humanity or to society he is generally respected for it. As has been recently said, the service rendered is the thing to give honor to, rather than the money, which is but a temporary reward for the service. A man who renders service to humanity or society is entitled to a reasonable degree of the emoluments of service, but the incident from which this text is taken will suggest to us the probability of obtaining a fortune by some other method. It is implied in the text that possibly the man obtains money by engaging in some unholty business, or by illegitimate methods of dealing in a legitimate business.

"I have in mind at this time the case of a man building up a fortune through the unnatural appetite of his fellow man. He built a palace far more attractive than any other in the community, and yet that palace represented the bread money and the shoe money of many little children whose fathers were addicted to the habit of drink. Looking at it from a moral standpoint, this was a fortune built up in an unholty way. But let it not be understood that the only illegitimate fortune in modern times is that built out of the liquor business. Society has been shocked by finding out that statesmen have sold out their honor for gain. Being elected to places of trust and voluntarily taking the oath of office, have been held up to ignominy and shame. Men in high positions in great life insurance companies, have bartered away the interests of the helpless, who have had confidence in them.

By this let it not be understood that all these dishonest methods are used by men from some other place. They come up every day. The observer finds all around him those who take advantage of their fellow men. One of the modern methods is the violation of the usury law, nor is it alone modern. There is nothing spoken of in the Bible with stronger terms of condemnation than that of taking unlawful interest.

"I wish at this point to compliment the Democrat-Sentinel for its editorial position on this subject. While I would not presume to pass judgment upon any special case, and know absolutely nothing of the merits of any local case, yet if there exists in the community such vampire methods the public officers should prosecute to the full extent of the law, and public sentiment should back them.

"Second, a man's relation to his wealth must be determined by what he does with it. Let it be understood that no amount of generosity of expenditure will ever cover up the crime of ill-gotten gain. It is an old aphorism that a man must first be just before he is generous. To give away ill-gotten gains in the name of charity is a mockery. It is the giving of that which belongs to another and not to our own. The only giving worth while is that which a man properly earns for service, or by legitimate business. Frequently society applauds some great gift of charity, when back of this gift the donor has been guilty of dishonesty and duplicity, while he who obtains his money in a legitimate way and uses it for the good of mankind deserves the highest praise and honor."

An Auto Trip on Sunday.
(From Monday's Daily.)

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ramsey and daughter, Miss Azie, accompanied by Mrs. Ramsey's sister, Mrs. C. S. Dexter, and Miss Helen Spencer, drove to Warrensburg in Mr. Ramsey's Cadillac touring car Sunday, leaving Sedalia at 2 p. m. and arriving in the Quarry City three hours later.

The party left Warrensburg at 8 o'clock last night, arriving at Knob Noster at 9 o'clock. They spent the night there, and left Knob Noster for Sedalia at 8 o'clock this morning, arriving here at 9:30 o'clock this forenoon. They had a delightful trip.

THROWN FROM A HORSE

ALBERT BAKER, THE 7-YEAR-OLD SON OF A FOREMAN AT THE "KATY" SHOPS.

A DOUBLE FRACTURE OF HIS RIGHT ARM

Member Also Dislocated, and Splintered Bone Penetrates the Joint—Case Is Quite Serious, Doctor Says.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Albert Baker, a 7-year-old son of A. A. Baker, an M. & K. T. shop foreman, residing at 1000 South Barrett avenue, sustained a dangerous double fracture and dislocation of the right arm while visiting the family of James Elliott, south of town, Sunday forenoon.

Mr. Baker and family had gone to the Elliott home to spend the Sabbath. Young Baker started to ride a pony, when the animal began to frolic, throwing the boy to the ground. In the hope of breaking the force of the fall the lad put out his right arm, with the result that it was fractured in two places above the elbow, while the elbow was dislocated.

One of the fractured bones penetrated into the joint, and in all probability the child's arm will be stiff for life.

The injured boy was brought to town, where Dr. K. R. Barnum reduced the fractures and set the dislocation, the injury being pronounced one of the most dangerous ever called to the attention of surgeons in this city.

A PICNIC BY SOCIALISTS

Fully 150 Journeyed to Flat Creek on the Sabbath.

(From Monday's Daily.)

The socialists of Sedalia, with their families and friends, numbering in all about 150, drove out to Thatcher's ford Sunday and enjoyed an all-day basket picnic.

The picnickers left the city in public and private conveyances about 8 o'clock a. m. and returned at 6 p. m. At the noon hour the contents of the many baskets were spread upon the green sward, and a splendid dinner was enjoyed to the fullest.

There were appreciated addresses by Thomas J. Newberry, J. H. Beckmeyer and E. T. Behrens, and this, coupled with social converse and innocent amusements, caused the day to be most pleasantly passed by all.

HELD SERVICES OUT DOORS

The First Baptist Congregation Did Sunday Night.

(From Monday's Daily.)

The first open air religious service held in Sedalia this summer was that of Sunday night by the First Baptist church, of which the Rev. Frank Y. Campbell is pastor.

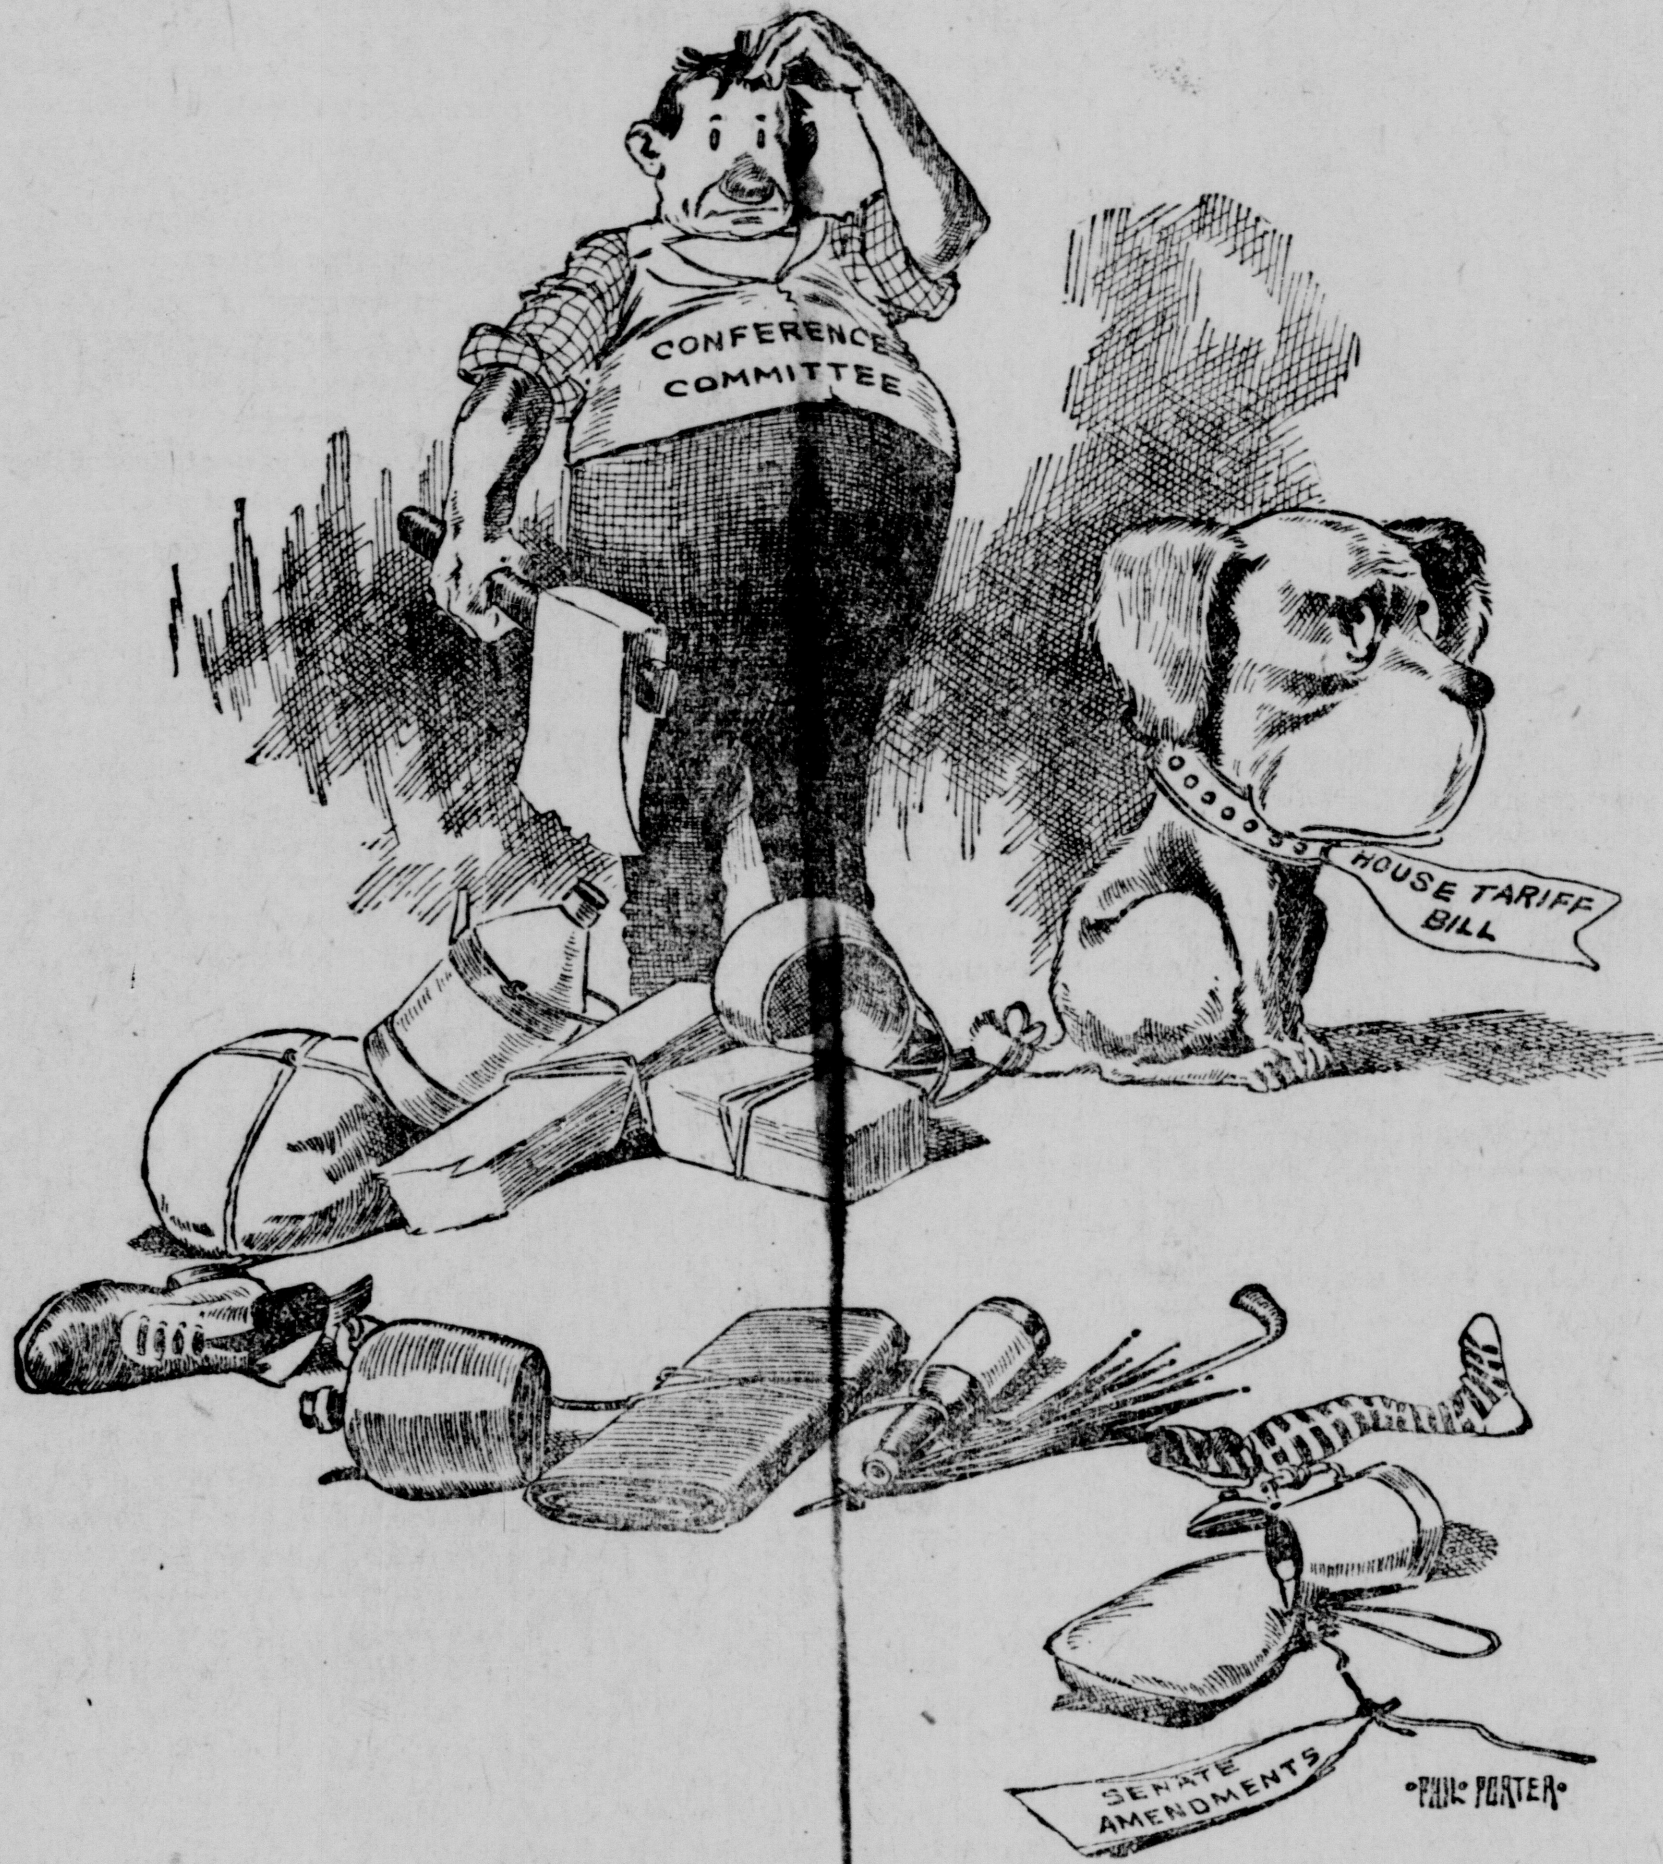

The attendance was much larger than usual. The pastor's theme was, "Surrender Better Than Defiance," and his utterances commanded the rapt attention of his auditors from beginning to close.

It is possible other churches will pattern after the Baptists in the matter of outdoor services during the heated term.

Spent Sunday at Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Harrison, accompanied by Misses Mayme, Jennie and Margaret Allen, spent Sunday at Big Spring, on Muddy creek, returning home last night. Dinner and supper were taken with the party, the trip being made in one of Mr. Harrison's wagons.

WHERE WILL HE CUT?

"YOUNG CORBETT" LOST

IN A GAME FIGHT IN FRISCO THE FORMER TERROR IS KNOCKED OUT.

END OF THE FIGHT CAME VERY SUDDENLY

Johnny Frayne in the Eighth Round of Battle Hit So Strong and True That Opponent Went Ingloriously to Defeat.

Hearst News Service.

San Francisco, July 17.—Young Corbett has not come back.

Today the former terror of the featherweight division, the man who astonished the pugilistic world by conquering the mighty Terry McGovern, when the Irish wonder was at his best, went down to ignominious defeat at the hands of Johnny Frayne, and made his second exit from the glare of the rings' limelight.

Frayne won an easy victory. That the Denverite lasted eight rounds showed that his heart is still in the right place, but it was all too evident after the second round that Frayne was in little danger of defeat, and the only question was how long the formerly formidable lad would be able to keep fighting.

The end came suddenly. Corbett had made a gallant stand in the sixth round and had a shade the best of the milling in the seventh of the fight.

In the seventh Frayne landed many well directed blows, and the eighth round had gone two-thirds of its course when the local man backed his opponent into a neutral corner. Then Frayne shot out as true a left swing for the chin as ever landed on a boxer.

Corbett sagged, and as he tottered to the left Frayne brought his right over, and the tired fighter sank to the carpet.

He arose immediately, with a dazed look. Frayne again planted his left on the jaw, and as Corbett fell heavily his seconds threw up the sponge as acknowledgment of defeat.

UNCLE JEFF ROLLINS DEAD

Interment Will Be at Old Hickory Point Graveyard.

(From Monday's Daily.)

"Uncle Jeff" Rollins, aged more than 70 years, who for a long time resided in the western part of Pettis county, about a mile from the Johnson county line, died at Dehuque,

Colo., last Saturday night, information to that effect having been received here today.

"Uncle Jeff" was known to all of the older residents of Western Pettis and no man in the community was held in higher esteem during the years he resided in Missouri. He is survived by two sons, Joseph and Orville Rollins.

The body will be brought to Knob Noster Tuesday, and the burial will be in old Hickory Point graveyard.

Clinton Defeated Ulrich.

At Clinton Sunday, the Clinton ball club defeated the Ulrich team by a score of 1 to 0. These clubs have played five games, Clinton winning three.

IT IS A GREAT RAILROAD

REFERENCE IS MADE TO THE MISSOURI PACIFIC, KNOWN AS THE "OLD RELIABLE."

PLAN OF FINANCING SOON TO BE PUBLIC

Splendid Record Made by the Road During the Recent High Waters—No Single Track Line Ever Made Better Showing.

St. Louis, Mo., July 19.—Within a short time from the meeting of Missouri Pacific stockholders, the first week in August, the general plan of financing for the Missouri Pacific will be made known generally, says the Star-Chronicle. The most important fact about the issue, which is to be refunding and consolidated and increases the bonded indebtedness of the company less than seventy-five millions, is that the whole has been provided for—in fact, was provided for before President Gould left for Europe and that the provisions were made, on terms indicating a high credit to the property. As a matter of fact the participants in the transaction, or a portion of them, had had little to do in the past with Gould railway financing and were governed largely by influence quite apart from the Harriman railroads and in a way indicating that some very ancient and very bitter antagonisms have been shelved.

Conditions Were Favorable.

But conditions were favorable for financing Missouri Pacific. With a perfectly clean cut management in control there has been no unsavory publicity. The road went through the

In trying to extinguish the flames, Mrs. Schach was severely burned about both arms, requiring the attention of a physician.

The summer kitchen and rear part of the house were consumed by the flames. The fire had good headway, but was promptly checked when the fire department arrived.

"REVISION DOWNWARD"

IS THE WAY PRESIDENT TAFT UNDERSTOOD REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

STAND PATTERS WILL BE "INSURGENTS"

Will Be Great Difficulty in Getting Through the Senate a Free Raw Material Bill—Reduction on Dress Goods.

Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—President Taft's emphatic declaration yesterday that he regarded the republican platform as meaning "revision downward" eclipsed in interest all minor details of the tariff struggle here today.

The general feeling is that the president's pronouncement will have a profound effect. One man said: "The standpatters will now become insurgents; the lines will all have to be reformed and nobody can forecast the outcome."

What Mr. Bryan Has to Say.

Associated Press.

Kansas City, July 17.—After reading the White House statement as to President Taft's position on the tariff, William J. Bryan, who passed through here today on a lecture tour, said he considered the president's statement rather equivocal.

He said that if the president meant that the house bill was a revision downward he was mistaken.

"The house did not make a downward revision of the tariff," said Mr. Bryan. "The acceptance of anything like the house bill can not result in a reduction of the tariff."

Outlook Is Discouraging.

Associated Press.

Washington, July 17.—"The outlook is discouraging, indeed," said one senator to another senator, who is a member of the conference committee, today. He declared there would be great difficulty in getting a bill with free raw material through the senate, which body is especially opposed to free hides.

The tariff conference today agreed to a reduction of 5 per cent in the Dingley rates on women's and children's dress goods made of cotton warp.

THERE WERE THIRTY GUESTS

At a Party Given in Honor of Rupert Gorrell by Parents.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Miss Corinne Grinstead returned Saturday morning from the Quisenberry neighborhood, seven miles west of town, where, Friday night, she was one of thirty guests at a birthday party given by Joseph Gorrell in honor of his son, Rupert, who celebrated his seventeenth birthday Friday.

Various games furnished the amusement, also dancing, and at a late hour refreshments of lemonade, bananas and cake were served, after which the guests returned home, having spent a pleasant evening.

Will Not Quit the Pulpit.

The Rev. Earl Willifoy, pastor of the First Christian church, St. Louis, who some weeks ago lectured here, under the auspices of the Tribe of Ben Hur, has given up his intention of quitting the pulpit for the lecture field, despite the fact that he will sacrifice $3,000 a year by so doing. The Tribe of Ben Hur wanted him as supreme lecturer, but he will remain with his congregation in St. Louis.

LATHAM FLEW 16 MILES

A FRENCH AVIATOR TRIED TO CROSS OVER THE BRITISH CHANNEL.

MOTOR FAILED HIM AT A GREAT HEIGHT

Both Man and Machine Fell Into the Sea and Were Rescued by French Boat—Greeted With Great Enthusiasm.

Calais, France, July 19.—Herbert Latham, a French aviator, after waiting more than a week for a favorable opportunity to attempt a flight across the channel from Calais to Dover, made a start this morning, but after covering about sixteen miles and while at a great height the motor failed and the machine fell into the sea. A French torpedo boat rescued Latham and his monoplane from the water. Latham's start was made from the top of a cliff at Sangatte under propitious circumstances. A crowd of several thousand persons crowded around to witness the start and the entire population of the neighboring villages lined the shore below.

When the torpedo destroyer entered the harbor, returning with the aviator and machine on board, Latham received a tremendous ovation and it was with difficulty that he made through the throngs. He was compelled to kiss several girls, who threw their arms about his neck. The monoplane was badly damaged, but Latham was unhurt.

BURIAL OF JOHN J. LAMM

Funeral Cortage One of the Longest Ever Seen at Smithton.

The funeral of John J. Lamm, who died Saturday, was held at Smithton Sunday afternoon, the Rev. F. S. Beggs conducting the burial service at the Methodist church, which was filled with friends who had known and loved the deceased in life.

The eulogy pronounced by the divine on the beloved dead was touching and beautiful, and will long be remembered by all who heard it.

At the conclusion of the service the remains were conveyed to the Smithton cemetery, the cortage that followed the body to its last resting place being one of the longest ever seen in the town. Many beautiful floral offerings rested on the casket.

The following gentlemen served as pallbearers: F. A. Tavenner, Frank L. Wright and George Griffin, all of Smithton; H. W. Meuschke, J. C. McLaughlin and Jacob Brandt, all of Sedalia.

Between 300 and 400 people witnessed the defeat of the California ball club by the Sedalia Cubs at Liberty park Sunday afternoon, by a score of 10 to 1.

Tom Duvenick was in the box for the visitors, but his support was rank, and after the fifth inning he put forth no effort, conceding defeat for his team.

McGurren was on the firing line for the Cubs and pitched his usual good game. The score follows:

Sedalia . . . 0 1 2 2 0 3 0—10 10 2

RELEASED ON A $500 BOND

Man Who Is Charged With Writing Improper Letters.

(From Monday's Daily.)

T. H. McKenna, a United States deputy marshal, returned Sunday afternoon from Warsaw, having in custody M. W. Babbitt, of near that place, who is charged with sending improper letters through the mails to Katie Rockwell, a St. Joseph, Mo., girl.

Babbitt was taken to Clinton last evening, and on arrival there was arraigned before W. J. Jeffries, a United States commissioner. Babbitt furnished a $500 bond, signed by his brother, William Babbitt, for examination.

Mr. McKenna returned home to Jefferson City this morning.

Last week we showed you the illustration of the old style of harness saddle and called your attention to the faulty parts. The above cut will show you the improved New Ideal harness saddle.

For durability and strictly up to date style, they have no equal. You will see there are no holes in the center of the saddle tree, but the old styles have, which strengthens them. There are no taps, bolts or screws on the underside to work loose and chafe a horse.

The check hook we positively guarantee never to break off by the stumbling of a horse. Look at your old harness and you will see the difference.

Is there any good reason why you should not buy your harness with the improved New Ideal harness saddle and get the benefit of the advantages?

They cost you no more than the inferior old style. We are sole owners of the counties of Pettis, Cooper, Henry and Saline. It is to your interest to call and see them before buying your harness.

"WET" VICTORY IN VIRGINIA

Is to Be Contested by the Advocates of Temperance.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Bristol, Tenn., July 17.—In a mass meeting of temperance people it was decided last night to contest the recent local option election in Bristol, Va., which resulted in a victory in favor of the "wets" by a majority of 32.

The petition was filed with the court today, and it is stated that the "wets" will make prompt answer, with a view to having the case heard in the corporation court in August.

The grounds upon which the contest rests are that more than a hundred non-residents, including many men who reside in Tennessee, voted, and that the capita tax of many of the voters was paid by others and not by the voters themselves, as the law requires.

SICKNESS AFTER FLOOD

Governor Asks Board of Health to Visit Stricken Districts.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 17.—Governor Hadley sent the following explanatory letter to the state board of health yesterday:

"Several parts of the state have recently been visited by severe floods which are apt to result in much sickness by reason of poor water supply and other causes. I wish that you would see that different members of the board of health visit the different sections of the state where these floods have occurred for the purpose of having safeguards and precautions taken as may be calculated to prevent sickness and epidemic."

THE STEPHENS RAILWAY

AN AGREEMENT MADE 30 YEARS AGO WITH JAY GOULD TO BE RENEWED.

IT IS A GOOD MISSOURI PACIFIC FEEDER

Line to Be Practically Rebuilt and Used in Through Service, St. Louis to Kansas City, Says a Dispatch.

St. Louis, Mo., July 17.—On July 1, 1919, the lease of the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern railroad company expires. This road runs from Boonville through Tipton to Versailles in Morgan county, a distance of forty-four miles. The road was leased thirty years ago to the Missouri Pacific railroad company at a net rental of $25,000 per annum. The road was the property of the late Col. Joseph L. Stephens, who was at his death its president and also a director of the Missouri Pacific railroad company. Col. Stephens was one of the receivers of the Missouri Pacific railroad company at the time it was sold to the late Jay Gould, and through cordial relations existing it was thought he had succeeded in making a lease of his road on most favorable terms.

During the early part of June, ex-Gov. Lon V. Stephens, who is the vice-president of the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern Railroad company, had a personal interview with Mr. George Gould in New York concerning the renewal of the old lease. At this meeting Mr. Gould agreed to renew the lease at the same rental, and also agreed if it were satisfactory to the stockholders to extend the lease for a term of ninety-nine years. This was agreed to. On Thursday, the 15th inst., a meeting of the directors of the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern at Boonville the new lease was executed by the president and ratified by the directors. The Missouri Pacific railroad company, through its vice president, C. S. Clarke, will sign up new papers at once, which will also be approved at the next meeting of the directors of the Missouri Pacific, as per understanding.

The Boonville, St. Louis and Southern railway has a bonded indebtedness of $400,000, drawing 6 per cent interest, payable semi-annually at the American Exchange National bank in New York City. These bonds do not fall due until 1911. At their maturity they will be promptly met, as new bonds, drawing either 4½ or 5 per cent interest, to run ninety-nine years, will be issued. The bonds will be secured by a first mortgage on the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern railroad, which represents less than $9,000 per mile. Interest will be guaranteed for ninety-nine years by the Missouri Pacific Railroad company. The capital stock of the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern is $250,000, and under the terms of the new lease no additional bonds can be issued.

The Boonville, St. Louis and Southern railroad runs through three of the best agricultural counties of Central Missouri and has always proven a valuable feeder to the Missouri Pacific railroad proper. The property is more valuable at this time, because since the road was first leased to the Missouri Pacific, the Rock Island has built through Versailles, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad has extended from Boonville to St. Louis. Practically the entire capital stock of the road and a large number of the bonds are held by the Stephens family.

It is the intention of the Missouri Pacific railroad to practically rebuild the Boonville branch from Tipton to Boonville and within a short time to run many of its through trains, passenger and freight, over this road between St. Louis and Kansas City.

WARNING BY HADLEY

The Governor Says Unkept Pledges Will Mean Disaster.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 17.—Governor Hadley fears the consequences of a high tariff law, and predicts that if the tariff is not revised downward that it will be the great issue in the next campaign and one that will prove embarrassing to the republican party. He expressed himself as indicated today in a reply he sent to the New York World. The latter had telegraphed for his views, the message reading as follows:

"Governor Fort, of New Jersey, in a speech to editors, said: 'For four months the people have been witnessing an exhibition at Washington of a party trying to enact a tariff bill in flat violation of its pledge to the people. If the final result shall be a law of that kind the next election will see the tariff the great issue.'"

"The World is asking republican governors if they endorse Governor Fort's views, and would be pleased to print a statement from you."

To this telegram Governor Hadley replied: "I do not believe the republican party is trying to enact a law in flat violation of its pledges to the people but I do believe that if it does not enact a law in accordance with its pledges, as understood by the people, for revision downward, the tariff will be the great issue in the next campaign, and one which will be embarrassing to the party which has failed to keep its pledges."

GUILTY OF SMUGGLING?

THE WIFE OF PROMINENT SHIP OWNER INDICTED IN NEW YORK CITY.

DEFENDANT COLLAPSED AT THE NEWS

Wearing Apparel Appraised at Several Thousand Dollars Found Hid in Compartment of a Bim Steamer.

New York, July 17.—A indictment for smuggling was handed down yesterday by the federal grand jury against Mrs. Fremont B. Chesbrough, of Detroit, whose husband is the owner of the coastwise line of steamers running out of Boston.

The case was placed in the hands of the United States district attorney for the district of New Jersey, following the discovery of a double bottom in one of the trunks which Mrs. Chesbrough brought to this country with her on the Kaiser Wilhelm II last May.

Wearing apparel appraised at several thousand dollars was found hidden in this compartment, together with bills and invoices, indicating the purchase abroad of a necklace valued at $23,000.

The necklace was not found among Mrs. Chesbrough's effects, but was Thursday turned over to the customs officials by Mrs. Chesbrough's attorney.

Mrs. Chesbrough is said to be prostrated over the incident and is confined in a sanitarium in Pennsylvania.

CIRCUIT COURT ENTRIES

Fast Case in Court for Years Settled Saturday.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

The following entries were made on the docket in the Pettis county circuit court Saturday:

Jennie B. Fast vs. Wilson A. Fast, suit to recover sum of money; stipulation for settlement filed, costs paid and suit dismissed as per stipulation.

George W. Barnett administrator of the estate of Sarah Kemp, vs. George Kemp; arguments concluded and cause taken under advisement.

Court was adjourned to court in course.

The Fast suit originated in this county in November, 1897, at which time Mrs. Fast, through Attorney John Montgomery, brought suit for $60,000, which sum she alleged the defendant had secured from her after the death of her husband.

At that time Judge Henry Lamm represented the defendant.

Later a settlement was made before Referee John Bohling, but after the settlement had been signed it fell through, and when Judge Henry Lamm went on the bench of the supreme court H. T. Williams was retained to look after defendant's interests.

After a setting aside of the settlement the case had been "hanging fire" until Saturday, when a settlement was reached, whereby Mr. Fast is to pay all unpaid costs, which amount to approximately $170.

$15,000 FOR A FIGHT

Pittsburg Club Offers That Sum to Ketchel and Langford.

Hearst News Service.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 17.—The National Sporting club of this city has bid $15,000 for the fight between Stanley Ketchel and Sam Langford. Manager Jimmie Dime said: "When it comes to six round bouts, we can bid for any of them, no matter how big. We have the finest arena in the country, and our people have shown that they want the real class article in pugilism. This is at present the greatest match that could be pulled off, better in my opinion, than one between Jeffries and Johnson."

The injured boy, hearing the cries of his brothers, hastened as rapidly as possible to their assistance, but was unable to get them out. It is feared the third child will not recover.

ARSON SUSPECT IS FREED

Jury Acquits Goodwin of Conspiring to Burn Smith Home.

Columbia, Mo., July 17.—After a three days' trial on a charge of conspiring to burn the home of Franklin Smith, near Boonsboro, Howard county, Mo., Robert Goodwin was acquitted by a jury in the Boone county circuit court here last afternoon.

The house of Smith was set on fire early on the morning of March 19, 1907. When he came to the door he was shot and killed on his porch. Everett Bobbitt and Joe Stewart were placed on trial for arson this afternoon. Noble Peacher and Rolla Kivett turned state's evidence and testified that Goodwin had induced them, with Everett Bobbitt and Stewart, to go to the Smith home and set fire to the house.

Goodwin's father-in-law, Enoch Bobbitt, father of Everett Bobbitt, is in the penitentiary now under conviction of murder in the second degree for the killing of Smith. Peacher has been paroled from the reform school at Boonville. He was 15 years old when he helped burn the Smith house.

SUTTON HAD A FIGHT

Dead Lieutenant's Sister Tells of Having Seen Challenge.

Annapolis, Md., July 17.—Lieut. James E. Sutton, who was shot and killed while in company with other officials of the Naval academy, is said to have been challenged to a duel with revolvers. The sister of the lieutenant, Mrs. Rose Sutton Parker, says she found a letter among the effects of the lieutenant challenging him to fight.

Later Sutton's foe wrote, "Let's cut out the gun play," and it is believed a fist fight was submitted for the revolver duel. It was in or after this fist encounter that Sutton's friends assert there was a fight with revolvers. Two residents of Annapolis say they have seen the letter making the challenge to fight, but cannot recall who signed it.

DEMOCRATS WON GAME.

Republicans Are Not Much at Playing Baseball.

Washington, July 17.—With "Uncle Joe" Cannon looking on and powerless to call the minority to order or bring in a special rule shutting off base hits, the democrats of the house of representatives walloped all sorts of tariff schedules out of the republicans at American league park yesterday afternoon, and won the most famous congressional baseball game on record by the thrilling score of 26 to 16.

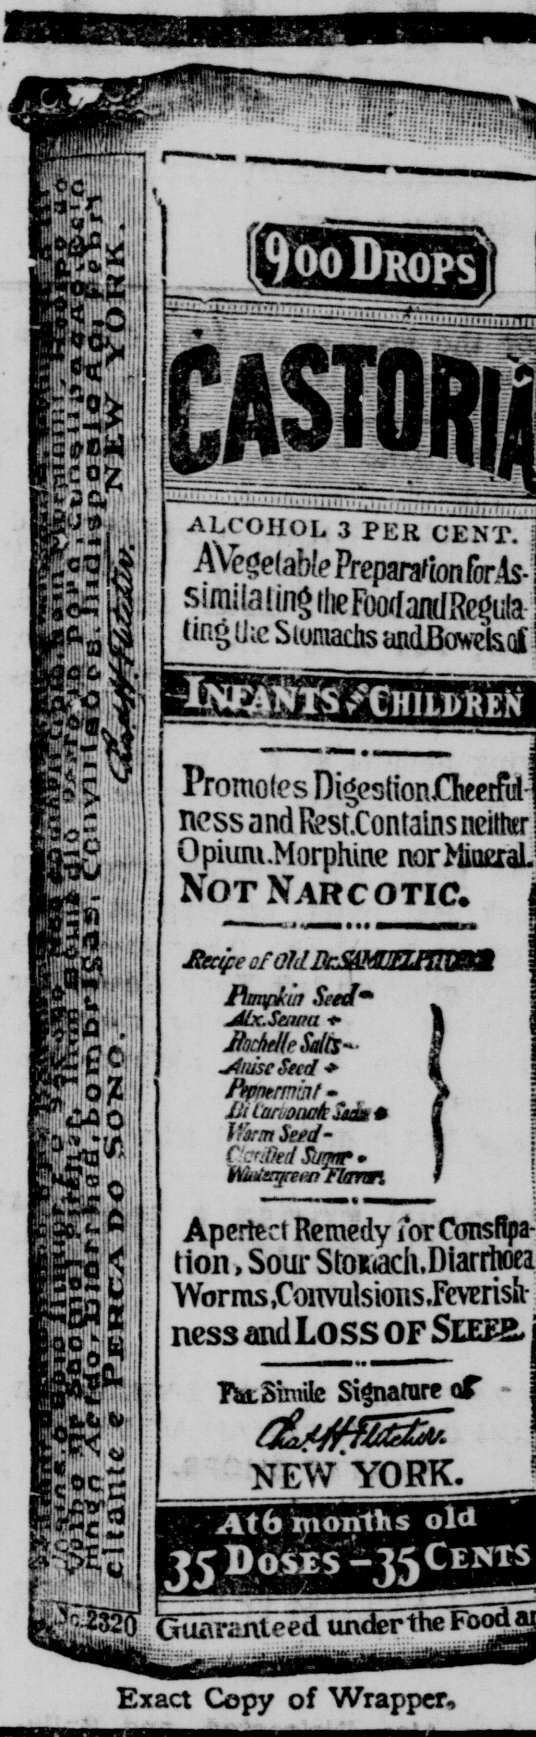

The minority wanted to make it 16 to 1.

WHITE GIRLS CHEAPEST

SELL THE HONOR OF THE AMERICAN FOR LESS THAN THE CELESTIAL.

THE TRICKS OF THE CHINESE FATHER

How Immigration Laws Are Misused Related By Collier's—Yellow Victims, Like White, Soon Die of Mistreatment.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Chicago, July 17.—Chinese girls bring from ten to a hundred times as much in the white slave markets of the United States as the 65,000 daughters of American homes who were sold last year, according to the best estimates made by federal and state prosecutors for the Woman's World's committee on legislation against the monstrous traffic.

The price usually put upon a victim of a Chicago or New York procurer's devious devilry last year was only from $20 to $50, but prices are now advancing because of the increasing difficulty and danger of the traffic because of laws secured by the committee's efforts in eight states of the union. The purchasers, who are usually keepers of disorderly houses, foresee the end of the traffic and the consequent restriction of their business.

The traffic in Chinese girls, so long deplored when the raids upon native girlhood and womanhood were either unknown or ignored, is said to keep many highlanders on the Pacific coast in silks and affluence.

According to information supplied by Collier's Weekly to the committee chosen and financed by the Woman's World to fight the white slave traffic, the forty, fifty or perhaps even sixty dollars, according to age, appearance and station in life, for which the young Chinese girl or woman intended for American shipment is purchased in China, swells to a selling price of five or ten times that amount when the human commodity has been transported across the Pacific and safely landed in San Francisco. It appears that United States laws unconsciously contribute to the ease and safety of the importations from China.

"By supreme court decision," asserts Collier's, "all Chinese born in the United States are deemed 'natives.'" Pacific coast folk go further with their appellations and sobriquets these American born Chinese, "Supreme court natives."

The wealthy Chinese fathers know no peace of heart till their daughters are sent back to grandparents in China. But, keen for profits, immediately prior to his girl's departure he takes her before the immigration commission, and secures a legal certificate of re-entry to the United States for his child.

Confident that his own daughter will thereafter stay safely in the land of their ancestors, the Chinese-American auctions off the re-entry papers to the highest bidder among the highbinders and slave traders to work misery and woe upon the daughter of some less fortunate man.

Certificates in hand, the procurers set sail for China, and traverse its rivers, plains and mountain sides till they find a "double" for the so-called "adjudicated native" of the United States.

They promise her parents that she shall marry a wealthy Chinese-American, they coach and drill the girl in English phrases and a superficial familiarity with San Francisco and the ways of its Chinese.

They even go so far as to have the father of the original girl meet the dupe at the time of her entrance, examination and inspection, and put up a fine show of parental affection. A few hours subsequently she is a prisoner in the dives of the "Barbary coast," doomed in most cases to a life of blows and intimidation, under which many of them pine away and die in a short time.

The fate of the Chinese girls is no worse than that of the girls of American homes who are captured in the net of white slavery, for their fate is a ruined life, certain diseases and early death, their average life being found to be but five years.

BOTH THIRCE MARRIED

Such Was the Experience of Lady in Court Saturday.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Married on February 7, 1909, separated on June 30, the same year, and divorced in less than an hour after making application for a decree, is the experience of Mrs. Dora Cooper, who Saturday obtained a legal separation from her husband, Albert D. Cooper, by Circuit Judge Louis Hoffmann.

The Coopers are wealthy, the latter owning a fine farm near Windsor, on the Johnson county side. Both he and Mrs. Cooper, now Mrs. McReynolds, have been married three times.

About two weeks ago they separated and Saturday Mrs. Cooper, through Attorney George F. Longan, brought suit for divorce. Mr. Cooper retained O. M. Barnett and by agreement between the attorneys the case was called for hearing in less than an hour after the petition had been filed. The plaintiff secured a decree and the restoration of her former name, Mrs. McReynolds.

ARE STILL TALKING TARIFF

APPEARS TO BE THE ONE TOPIC OF INTEREST AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

THE TRUSTS ARE AGAINST THE MASSES

When the Conferees Have Finished Labors It Will Be Seen Whether Mountain Has Labored and Brought Forth Mouse.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—The tariff continues to be the chief topic of conversation in Washington, and everyone is waiting almost with bated breath for some clear indication of the course of the conferees. The situation is unusually complicated because of the injection of two unknown factors in the equation. One is the "downward revision" influence of President Taft. The other is the "standpat" influence of Speaker Cannon.

"Close friends" of the president are authority for the statement that the outcome of the conference will be a "Taft bill," embodying the reductions of the house bill, those of the senate bill and a few more injected by the president himself for good measure.

Other "close friends" of the president are authority for the assertion that he is worried over the situation, that his best efforts are not producing the results he expected and that it will be impossible for him to accomplish sufficient improvement to make it possible for him to sign the bill without considerable compunction.

There is no doubt that the president is doing all in his power to induce the conferees of the two houses to accept the lowest rates in each instance, but it is probably equally certain that thus far insufficient progress has been made to enable anyone to determine what the outcome will be.

There are some serious obstacles to the end which the president seeks. The house conference committee, made up by Speaker Cannon to serve his own ends, and to counteract the progressive tendencies of Chairman Payne, is a strongly "standpat" aggregation and with the exception of Mr. Payne the few who are disposed to reduce the duties are so beholden to the speaker that they will place his will before their convictions. This means, of course, that to accomplish much the president must convert the speaker, and, as Mr. Cannon is fond of saying, "It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks." The president is especially anxious for free hides, free iron ore, free coal and free petroleum. Taking the last first, the very make-up of the committee is against free petroleum, entirely apart from the wishes of the speaker. For the house there are Representatives Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and Calderhead, of Kansas, both advocates of a tariff on petroleum, while the senate is represented in part by Senators Penrose, of Pennsylvania, another ardent advocate of tariff on oil and the man whose determined fight in the senate led to the imposition at the eleventh hour of the countervailing duty carried in the senate bill.

Added to this is the position of Speaker Cannon, who has never given the house for placing petroleum on the free list against his wishes who has a number of independent oil producers in his district who want a duty on oil, and who is determined that whatever else the conferees may do, the duty on oil shall not be stricken out, but shall be increased if possible.

Representative Dalzell and Senator Penrose will also stand out to the last ditch for a duty on coal. The indications are that the rate may be reduced to 50 cents a ton, or even 40 cents, but beyond that there is little prospect the conferees will go, despite the earnest entreaties of the president.

Of course, the Pennsylvania men will hold out for the duty on iron ore. Mr. Dalzell was never known to vote against anything advocated by the steel trust, nor is Senator Penrose likely to. Senator Burrows, in whose state are located the largest ore beds, will stand with the Pennsylvanians, and altogether the prospect of free iron ore is not brilliant.

The senate conferees are not particularly interested in placing a duty on hides, but Mr. Calderhead is, in fact, it is generally supposed that his advocacy of this duty was a large factor in his being placed on the committee. And, finally, Speaker Cannon is bound by a bargain he is supposed to have made with former Representative Littauer, the great glove manufacturer, of Gloversville, N. Y., to stand pat for the house duty on gloves.

Not only did Mr. Littauer go to Chicago during the republican convention and conduct the campaign which resulted in James S. Sherman, the speaker's candidate, being named for vice president, but when, last spring, a number of independent republicans allied themselves with the democrats in an effort to reform the house rules and curtail the speaker's power, Mr. Littauer came at once to Washington and conducted the fight which prevented the disastrous defeat of Mr. Cannon.

Out of his work for the speaker grew the high rate imposed by the house on women's gloves. It was the most unpopular feature of the house bill, and the senate promptly rejected it. But the speaker is determined to keep his word to Littauer and every house conferee who is beholden to Mr. Cannon will have to insist on the higher duties imposed by their body. How President Taft can snatch victory from this situation it is difficult to foresee.

TO PROSECUTE LOBBYISTS

Fifty-Three Persons Have Failed to File Expense Accounts.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 17.—Attorney General Major figured it out at noon today that fifty-three persons who signed themselves as legislative lobbyists at the recent session of the legislature and have not filed statements of their expenses with the secretary of state, are subject to prosecution. It was agreed yesterday that any statement made on that day and mailed to the secretary of state, if properly made out and sworn to, would be accepted as a compliance with the law, and time would also be given those who made errors, but evidently tried to comply with the law, to correct the same.

Nine belated returns were received this morning and duly credited, as they had all been made out and mailed yesterday. Perhaps others will come in on the late mail this evening, and due credit will be given. But a report mailed today, while it will be filed, will not be considered as a full compliance with the law, but will go on the delinquent list and the party concerned will be held liable to a fine of $100 a day for each day of delinquency.

Attorney General Major says that he will not only prosecute the delinquents, but will bring every corporation into court that had a lobbyist here and neither registered nor filed a statement of his expenses. The Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern railroad was represented by J. M. Seibert, who filed a sworn statement of his expenses a few days ago. The Home Telephone company, of Kansas City, and the Springfield Lighting company have caused statements of their representatives to be filed. This includes the entire list of corporations that has responded or paid the slightest attention to the law.

HE DIED FOR HIS LOVE

BARON OSKAR ROTHSCHILD COULD NOT MARRY AMERICAN SWEETHEART.

STERN FATHER WITHHELD HIS CONSENT

Young Man on Trip to This Country Met Chicago Girl and Wished to Marry—Parents' Refusal Led Him to Suicide.

Chicago, July 17.—It was not love for a poor, unknown Viennese maiden that caused Baron Oskar Rothschild, the youngest son of Baron Albert Rothschild, of Vienna, a member of the great family of financiers, to send a bullet through his brain last Monday evening. It was because he had been thwarted by his family in his dearest wish to marry a young, beautiful and talented Chicago girl, Olga Menn, daughter of Dr. Rudolph Menn, 15 Lincoln avenue.

This information came in a cablegram, saying: "Baron Rothschild killed himself because parents prevented him marrying a Chicago girl, Olga Menn."

The story of the romance reads like a page from Mrs. Humphrey Ward and is full of theatrical situations—love at first sight, a hasty courtship, parental blessings on the girl, cablegrams pleading with Baron Oskar's father, opposition on the part of Captain Switzer, the baron's traveling companion, a hasty trip to Europe, followed by the bride-elect and her mother, stern opposition on the part of the Rothschild family, a final scene of parting in Hamburg and the tragedy.

The story really begins with the landing of Baron Rothschild and his traveling companions in San Francisco about six weeks ago on their way home from a trip around the world. One of the baron's companions, who himself is a scion of one of the wealthiest and noblest of the Austrian houses, had taken ill upon the trip, and the party hurried across the country without a stop until it arrived in Chicago. Here it was found that the young man would be unable to continue his journey; and, after a consultation with some of his local friends, Baron Rothschild placed his friend in the German hospital at 754 Hamilton Court. There he visited him every day, and came to know Dr. Menn, the attending physician at the hospital. Dr. Menn is a graduate from the University of Vienna, and naturally great friendship sprang up between the physician and the young baron.

It was not many days before Dr. Menn, wishing to honor the son of the greatest of the Austrian houses, arranged a little dinner, to which the baron and his suite were invited to meet the members of Dr. Menn's family.

The romance between the young people began at the moment of the introduction. The heart of Baron Rothschild was pierced by Cupid's arrow the moment he gazed into the eyes of the beautiful Olga Menn. Nor was the young woman entirely unresponsive to his marked attentions.

In a week Baron Oskar had proposed and had been advised by Dr. Menn to seek his father's consent to his marriage. The young man went to Europe, followed closely by Mrs. Menn and her daughter. Soon after the receipt of a telegram from Mrs. Menn that the engagement had been broken at the instance of the elder Rothschild came the news of the young man's suicide.

MET AN INSTANT DEATH

JOHN WILKERSON KILLED BY TOM WARREN EARLY THIS MORNING.

HE WAS SHOT THROUGH THE HEART

Tragedy Was the Result of a Quarrel Over a Garden That Wilkerson Had Raised on Warren's Place.

(From Friday's Daily.)

A quarrel of several days' duration between Tom Warren, a prosperous farmer living eight miles northwest of Lamonte, and John Wilkerson, a farm hand who had been working for Mr. Warren and living in a tenant house on the farm, terminated at 4:30 o'clock this morning in the death of Wilkerson from two pistol shots, one about two inches below and the other exactly through the center of the heart, both fired by Warren, who claims he shot in defense of his own life.

The immediate events leading up to the tragedy are known only to one living man—Warren—as no one on the place witnessed either the quarrel or the killing.

The shots were heard by Mr. Fisher, who lives about an eighth of a mile from the Warren place, and he hurried to the scene with all possible haste, and when he arrived found Warren in the horse lot guarding the body of his victim.

Warren at once telephoned to Sedalia and notified Sheriff Henderson, and also communicated with W. D. Steele, whom he retained to defend him.

Sheriff Henderson, accompanied by Coroner Morley, took the early morning train for Lamonte and drove from there to the scene of the killing, and upon their arrival the sheriff placed Warren under arrest, while the coroner took charge of the body and arranged for the inquest.

When the coroner reached Warren's house and asked where he could find Warren, he was directed to his room and found him calmly shaving himself, preparatory to going to the city with the officers. He displayed no evidence of excitement and was undoubtedly the most self-possessed and collected man on the place.

He had no hesitancy in giving his version of the tragedy, stating to the officers the following:

Wilkerson had been working for him for several months as an ordinary farm hand, and was receiving $24 per month, together with the use of the tenant house and the garden spot attached to the same. There had been no trouble between the two men until harvest began, when Wilkerson declined to aid in gathering the crops at his old rate of wages, demanding $1.50 per day for this character of work. This Warren refused to pay, and told Wilkerson to move off his place. Wilkerson then asked for pay for the growing garden truck, and Warren offered him $5 for the same. The price was not satisfactory, and as the two men were not able to agree two of their neighbors were called in to arbitrate the matter, and yesterday they decided that Warren should pay $10 for the garden.

Warren thought this settled the matter, but claimed that because of threats made by Wilkerson he armed himself, and that when he arose this morning to do his milking he carried his pistol, a .38-caliber weapon, with him to the barn.

He said that while he was there Wilkerson approached him and renewed the old trouble, and that after a few words Wilkerson started after him with a hedge knife and struck at him with it. The blow did not reach him, however, he being inside the barn, but struck on the door casing, cutting a deep gash in the timber. He claims that he then notified Wilkerson not to come nearer, warned him that he was armed and said he would shoot.

Wilkerson, he said, continued to advance, and he shot once in the air to frighten him. According to his story, this did no good. Wilkerson continued to come on, wrenched open the half closed door that had divided them, and grappled with him. He claimed to have been pulled out into the lot where he struggled with his assailant for a few minutes, but said he didn't remember when he fired the fatal shots. All he claims to recollect is that during the struggle the pistol went off and Wilkerson fell dead at his feet.

The body of the slain man was not disturbed, but lay where it fell until the arrival of the officers, and when they went to view it the right hand grasped the hedge knife with which he was armed, and which, strangely enough, it would seem, he had retained during the entire struggle and still held onto, even in death.

Representatives of the Democrat-Sentinel hastened to the Warren farm in an automobile as soon as the news of the killing reached Sedalia, and arrived there a little after 10 o'clock. Warren at that time, while very courteous, refused to talk for publication. He didn't appear to be much excited and talked on other subjects quite freely. He had finished shaving and was dressed up, ready for the journey to Lamonte. He is a powerfully built man and looks to be possessed of much more than ordinary strength, and was without doubt thoroughly self-possessed, the fearful ordeal through which he had just passed seemingly having had no effect upon his nerves or ruffled his demeanor.

The widow of the slain man was found at the tenant house, about a quarter of a mile from the big house. One of the kindly neighbor women was with her, doing all she could to comfort her in her sudden bereavement and poignant distress.

Between sobs, with tears streaming down her cheeks, clasping to her bosom one little child two years old and holding by the hand another of 3 years, she talked to the newspaper man.

"No," she said, "when John got up this morning he didn't appear angry at all or out of sorts in the least. He just rose at sun up, the same as usual, built the fire and then called me to get breakfast, while he went out to milk the cow. I prepared the meal and dressed the children and waited for him, oh, so long. It must have been an hour and a half, and I thought he had gone to his work without the meal, when they came and told me he was dead—killed by Mr. Warren."

"I thought the trouble was all over and so did John. John had quit working for Mr. Warren and yesterday went to work for Jenkins Bros. We wanted to still live in this house and pay rent and so get to use what we raised in the garden, but Mr. Warren wouldn't let us, and so we were going to move. We wanted Mr. Warren to buy the garden and he offered $5 for it. We didn't think that enough, and John and Mr. Warren had words over it. They quarreled over it two or three days and John finally agreed to leave it to two neighbors. Mr. Warren would not consent to this and when the men were selected, told them $5 was all he would pay, no matter what decision they made. But they told him yesterday that the garden was worth $10 and that he ought to pay that and both John and I thought it was all settled. We were happy, too; he was getting $1.50 a day and we thought things looked brighter for us. John was a good husband, kind to me and the children; he loved us and worked hard, early and late for us, and helped me around the house. He built the fire and milked the cow and was good to us all the time, and now he is dead."

Up at the big house were gathered friends of Warren to offer every comfort and aid in his trouble, while down in the little two-room house this lonely, grief-stricken young mother and her babes faced the world almost friendless, and without one single penny in her possession.

It was a heart-breaking spectacle. Early in the afternoon Prosecuting Attorney Dow and W. D. Steele, the attorney for Warren, arrived, and after consultation it was decided to remove the body of Wilkerson to Lamonte, where the autopsy and inquest is being held by Coroner Morley this afternoon.

The coat that Warren was wearing at the time of the killing and which it was alleged was torn in several places during the struggle, the hedge knife found in the dead man's hand and the pistol from which the fatal shots were fired were all taken as evidence.

During the forenoon several of those present, learning of the destination of Wilkerson's family raised a purse for her immediate necessities. Wilkerson was from Howard county and his wife from Fayette, Mo. They were married in Booneville four years ago, and just previous to moving to the Warren farm they resided in Sedalia. Wilkerson while living in Sedalia worked first for the Stanley Coal company and afterward for the Houston Transfer Co. He was 28 years of age, and carried no insurance, his wife saying he was forced to drop a policy he had been carrying on account of poverty.

The dead man had finished milking the cow before the tragedy, and the bucket of milk that he was carrying to the house when he met his death stood in the lot all the forenoon as mute evidence of his industry.

Warren some five years ago was concerned in another shooting which did not result as seriously as this one. At that time he was conducting a drug store at Houston, and a man named Jesse Dane, a resident of the town, it was claimed under the influence of liquor, entered the store and an altercation resulted. Warren drew a revolver and shot Dane. The latter lay in a critical condition for some time, but eventually recovered. No action was ever taken against Warren by the authorities.

Warren was born in this county, near Houston, and has spent practically all of his life in this locality. He was engaged in the drug business at Houston for three years or more, and about five years ago quit that business to engage in farming, remaining so up to the present time.

The following is the coroner's jury which is investigating the case: A. F. Wimer, W. F. Hainline, J. W. Edwards, George H. Hardey, C. M. Barnett and J. P. Kemp.

The Higgins-Price Shooting.

The tragedy this morning, by reason of Warren's family connections, recalls the shooting of Thomas B. Price by Judge John B. Higgins on a Lexington branch passenger train near Georgetown on the afternoon of November 7th, 1890. Warren is a son-in-law of Judge Higgins.

The shooting created widespread attention and regret on account of the prominence of both men and their families. Judge Higgins was judge of the county court, representing the Western district, and Price, a son of the late General Thomas B. Price, was a well-to-do farmer of the Higgins neighborhood. Politics severed the friendship between the two. On the afternoon of the shooting, Judge Higgins and Price boarded the train here to return to their homes. Higgins had been in Sedalia attending court and Price was summoned here as a juror for the November term of court. He had been excused by Judge Ryland as a juror because he had been drawn twice the same year.

Price, according to statements made at the time, occupied a seat in the car just back of the one occupied by Judge Higgins. He was conversing with an acquaintance, when Judge Higgins turned to him and made the remark that he had decided to grant the request for a bridge and that he hoped his neighbors and people of the community would quit their talking and telling lies.

To these remarks Price responded that he had not lied about him, and later the controversy was renewed, when the tie was passed and Price left his seat and slapped Judge Higgins.

The judge resented the slap by shooting Price in the abdomen, having fired a gun from his overcoat pocket.

Price was carried on to Houston, and that night was brought back to Sedalia on a special train ordered by Supt. Clark, of the Missouri Pacific, and taken to the Siche hotel, where he died the next day.

Members of the Order of Elks conveyed Mr. Price from the depot to the hotel, carrying him on a stretcher. Price's death was the first in the Sedalia lodge of Elks.

Judge Higgins was acquitted of the charge at the trial following the shooting.

Buried in Potter's Field.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

John Wilkerson came to his death by leaden bullets discharged into his body from a revolving pistol in the hands of Thomas W. Warren.

Such was the substance of the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at Lamonte Friday evening, after investigating the death of Wilkerson, which occurred on the Warren farm, near Houston, early Friday morning, as told in detail in Friday's Democrat-Sentinel.

Immediately after the returning of the verdict, Peace Justice W. E. Reavis, of Lamonte, issued a warrant for Warren's arrest. Warren at once furnished a $10,000 bond, signed by his father-in-law, Judge J. P. Higgins, and H. F. Tuck, for preliminary examination on Thursday, July 22.

Wilkerson's body was interred in the potter's field at Lamonte Saturday.

TRIED TO MAKE ESCAPE

WILBUR PORTER, COUNTY PRISONER, WANTED TO MAKE "GET AWAY."

HE IS SERVING A SIXTY-DAY SENTENCE

Was Working on the County Road Five Miles West of Sedalia—Plans Were Frustrated By Jackels and Kruse.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Wilbur Potter, a white man, serving a sixty days' sentence in the Pettis county jail, made an attempt to escape from the county prisoners' chain gang while at work on the Twelve-Mile road district, five miles west of Sedalia Saturday forenoon, but was discovered before he made good his escape.

The attempted escape was discovered by Guards John Jackels and Henry Kruse, who were employed in watching the gang of twenty prisoners. They said nothing to Potter at the time, but immediately after detecting him telephoned to the sheriff's office for a pair of shackles and Potter was put into these and kept at work the remainder of the day.

About three weeks ago Potter was given a ten days' sentence for a minor offense. He was incarcerated during the morning, and at 4 o'clock that afternoon secured a stove poker and attempted to force an entrance through the west wall of the jail.

Another inmate of the jail reported the attempt to Sheriff Henderson, who looked Potter in "Big Four." After serving the sentence, Potter was rearrested for attempted jail-breaking, and when arraigned before Peace Justice F. W. Clark was given sixty days at hard labor on the county roads.

He had been worked during the past week, and Saturday morning at tired himself in a double suit, so that if he made good his escape he was wearing at the time, thus making a description of clothing of no avail.

During the day he threw a bundle of clothing into a bunch of weeds by the side of the road whereon he was working, and later started to sneak into the weeds.

Guards Jackels and Kruse at once detected his plan and started in pursuit. Just as he was about to seize his bundle he was recaptured and returned to the prisoners' gang, and was not even given a chastisement.

However, Guard Jackels at once telephoned for the shackles and when they were secured Potter was placed in them. He was kept so during the remainder of the day.

In all probability he will be rearrested for the third time when he completes his sixty-day sentence.

Potter, just prior to his arrest in Sedalia, had completed the serving of a thirty-seven-day sentence in the workhouse at Kansas City.

DEATHS FOLLOW A FIGHT

MISSISSIPPI MEN ENGAGE IN QUARREL THAT ENDS FATALITY.

TWO BROTHERS WERE THE VICTIMS

Remark Made Regard Dress Worn By Woman Relative Leads to Five Cornered Battle—Three Are Dangerously Wounded.

Hearst News Service.

Union, Miss., July 17.—The mere mention of a woman relative of one of the principals in a street quarrel her today, when the woman was accused of wearing a sheath gown during the fair of the Eastern Mississippi association, provoked a fist fight between Mayor P. J. McDonald and Joe Miller, a lumber merchant, today, which ended in a five-cornered affair, in which two men lost their lives, while three others are known to be badly injured.

The dead are D. J. McDonald, capitalist, and P. J. McDonald, mayor, while Cornelius Chisholm, Joe Miller and Murphy McDonald, son of the mayor, who tried to act as peacemaker, are seriously injured as the result of pistol or knife wounds.

Miller and the mayor met shortly before noon. They talked for a brief moment and then mixed in rough and tumble scrap.

D. J. McDonald and Chisholm were near by, and reached the scene, according to eyewitnesses, as bullets began to fly.

In the general exchange of shots, Chisholm was shot; Young Murphy McDonald, son of the mayor, who, it is said, was trying to separate the principals, was shot, and Miller was shot and cut.

When the smoke of battle cleared away, both Mayor McDonald and his brother, D. J. McDonald, a wealthy capitalist, were dead on the street. Both men had been hit near the heart by bullets.

All the survivors refuse to connect any woman with the affair, but in an open secret that a remark made by Miller in reference to a dress worn by a relative of the McDonalds, comparing it with a sheath gown, is responsible for the reopening of the trouble.

Chisholm disclaimed that he was armed when the trouble occurred.

Miller made the same statement.

Both contend that the mayor killed his brother and that the brother killed the mayor.

No weapons were found on Chisholm or Miller after the battle was over, although it was some time before they were arrested and searched. Young Murphy McDonald was not known to be armed.

An operation was performed on Miller tonight by physicians from Memphis. One bullet was located in the abdomen and no hope is held out for his recovery.

Unless serious complications set in Chisholm is not believed to be mortally wounded.

Indignation runs high against Chisholm, as his loud language as he entered the fight was heard.

As the result of the double tragedy today two widows and large families are left.

The McDonald family is a prominent one throughout Mississippi, and further trouble is feared unless a prompt investigation is made.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anaemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S.S.S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S.S.S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S.S.S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the overstrained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

EVELYN THAW'S "STORY"

DECLARED SHE TRIED THREE YEARS TO PREVENT WHITE'S MURDER.

IN LOVE AGAIN, BUT NO NAME IS GIVEN

Has Family Carter Mapped When Free From Man, She Avers—Says Harry Thaw Won Her By His Threats.

New York, July 19.—Evelyn Thaw, in a sensational interview in a morning newspaper, declares that she tried for three years to prevent the murder of Stanford White by Harry Thaw.

She asserts that Thaw stole her from White, whom she dearly loved, by flourishing a pistol and threatening to kill him.

She admits she is what she calls "immoral," but wants it understood that she never committed a crime.

Without hesitation she announces that there is a man whom she loves better than any one else in the world, but declines to give his name.

This man, she asserts, she may marry and "rear children in the fashion of a good housewife and mother." The career she has mapped out may be the only obstacle.

Thaw she denounces as a "miserable man," and says he was "absolutely stinging." She relates how he fogged a hotel page and then rubbed salt into the boy's wounds.

She declares that her story on the stand of her drugging and subsequent treatment by White was absolutely true. She announces that she has no desire to profit by her notoriety, and that if she should accept vaudeville opportunities offered her she would soon be independently rich.

Altogether the interview is so frank and so in opposition to Thaw's interests that he is likely to be somewhat more disturbed than usual upon reading it, especially as he is nearing the critical moment in his fight for release from the asylum for the criminal insane.

Mrs. Stanford White and her son, Lawrence Grant White, were returning voyagers Saturday on the American liner St. Louis.

Mrs. White was still stifled in deep mourning, and had remained secluded during the most of the voyage, though occasionally walking on deck with her son. She declined to say anything for publication.

"I do not see what I could be expected to say or why I should be troubled," she said.

A QUARREL, THEN A SUICIDE

After Breaking Wife's Arm Borrowed Shells to Kill Himself.

Mullinville, Kas., July 17.—J. W. Rader, a prominent farmer living seven miles north of town, quarreled with his wife yesterday morning about 8:30 o'clock.

After beating her severely, breaking her arm, he went two miles to a neighbor's house, got some shells for his gun, went to the barn and shot himself in the head. He died instantly. No cause is yet known for the quarrel.

Pittsburg, Kas., July 17.—Thomas L. Lewis, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, left here today for the Central Pennsylvania coal mining district.

"The operators there have given notice of a reduction of 11 cents per ton in the mining rate," said Lewis today, "and we will resist it to the bitter end."

THE VETERAN'S PARADE.

Git my old knapsack, Mary, an' my uniform of '61.
Git my battered helmet, Mary, for I'll need 'em all today.
Git my canteen an' my leggins; reach me down my empty gun,
For I'm goin' out paradin' with the boys of '61.

Never mind them bloodstains, Mary; never mind that ragged hole,
That was left there by a bullet that was seekin' for my soul.
Jest bresh off them cobwebs, Mary, git the bonnie flag of blue,
For I'm goin' out paradin' with the boys of '62.

These old clothes don't fit me, Mary, as they did when I was young;
Don't you recollect how neatly to my manly form they clung?
Never mind that sleeve that's empty, let it dangle loose and free,
For I'm going out paradin' with the boys of '63.

Pull my sword belt tighter, Mary; fix that strap beneath my chin.
I've grown old and threadbare, Mary; like my uniform, and thin,
But I reckon I'll pass muster as I did in days of yore,
For I'm goin' out paradin' with the boys of '64.

Now I'm ready, Mary; kiss me; kiss your old sweetheart good'bye;
Brush away them tear drops, Mary; Lord, I didn't think you'd cry.
I ain't goin' out to battle; cheer up, Mary, sakes alive,
I'm just goin' out paradin' with the boys of '65.

period of depression safely and came out in good physical condition entirely as the result of honest and capable management and with greater tonnage or earning capacity in sight than it had enjoyed in its history. There was, of course, an accumulation of repair work on rolling stock of all kinds. But the tracks generally were kept up. West of Kansas City track improvement was neglected pending the time for general reconstruction now in progress. The number of employees was reduced in order to keep within the revenue income and neither that portion of the public that felt resentful toward all railroad interests, competitors or competitive situations were permitted to involve the property or its management in any injurious conflict.

Faced a Declining Revenue.

Facing a declining revenue and earnings statements during the years 1907 and 1908, the management never receded from the position taken by it that the 2-cent rate law and the maximum freight rate law in Missouri were confiscatory and therefore illegal or unconstitutional. The question gravely concerned the bond issues already made and vitally affected any prospective issues. Any attempt to even refund bonds issued years ago under conditions that existed in Missouri before the decision of the federal court that the Missouri rate laws were confiscatory and illegal, might have proved disastrous and carried away in failure the plan for the new issue over the consolidation of mortgages on small lines in Missouri and adjoining states. The precedent of the Missouri decision, which was not compromised by the Missouri Pacific and one or two other lines of the state, was viewed at the money centers as an indication that the 2-cent passenger rate law is not sound in any of the states west and some of the states east of the Mississippi river, and the same view is applied to most of the railways and applications of rates affecting revenues made by state commissions.

Greater Tonnage Advantage.

With respect to prospective greater tonnage and its effect on the issue of bonds by Missouri Pacific, bankers were ready to see and realize the tonnage advantages to accrue to the line through the opening of the Western Pacific railroad, which in connection with the Denver & Rio Grande will exchange traffic with the Missouri Pacific at Pueblo under a contract filed with the trustee of Western Pacific bond issue, guaranteed by indorsement of the Denver & Rio Grande. The Missouri Pacific and the Rio Grande contracted to make interchange and Missouri Pacific will get the long hauls on all east-bound through business. Operation under this agreement will be effective on the opening of the Western Pacific for business, which will be late in the present year.

Extensive Improvements.

In order to take care of the largely increased tonnage of a transcontinental route Missouri Pacific has made an extensive rebalancing and fine improvement contract that is now being worked out. An order for 100 new locomotives has been placed and orders for new rails are said to be in prospect. Many people are able to discern at this time what President Gould referred to at the commencement of the decline in Missouri Pacific stock in August, 1907, when he said he intended to put his Missouri Pacific stock away and keep it because it was worth $150 a share to him. While entering transcontinental competition he is no more likely to throw away a large percentage of the value of his stock than is President Harriman of the Union Pacific, his closest competitor, likely to throw away a large proportion of the 10 per cent dividends on Union Pacific stock.

Road's High Water Record.

No 280 miles of single track railroad was ever known to have carried more traffic without accidents as successfully as did the Missouri Pacific carry its own and the traffic of three or four other lines during the week just closed. The work of the employees in the transportation, telegraph and train service shows as nearly a perfect and harmonious organization as was ever built up by operating officers. The traffic at times showed trains every twenty minutes for periods covering sixty hours. That means trains of all classes and belonging to various lines. It included solid trains of California fruits that travel on the fastest passenger schedules; stock trains that must be placed at unloading yards once every twenty-eight hours, export dressed beef trains that move on passenger schedule to the seaboard, and what are known as the regular "red ball" freight trains, carrying only "time" freight. Then there were passenger trains of various lines, some having rights over others. Some of these trains from foreign lines furnished their own engines, but a "plot" familiar with the Missouri Pacific line had to be placed on every engine drawing every foreign train.

Good Service for All.

At one time it became necessary for the management to refuse heavy freight business that was not perishable, but all other classes of traffic were taken by train lots and safely delivered. With such an increase in the number of trains and no increase in trackage, delays were of course unavoidable. But no advantage was taken and the very best possible was given to all. Only slight interference by high water was felt on the Missouri Pacific line. Between Boonville and Jefferson City the embankment was weakened and all trains on the river division were sent by way of Tipton to Boonville. In the Joplin district the River Marías De Cygnes washed out the track and trains were detoured several days by the M., K. & T. from Sedalia to Nevada. All agents were notified by circular Saturday that all flood damage had been repaired and all trains again placed in regular schedule service.

AEROPLANE IS SMASHED

AN AMATEUR ATTEMPTS FLIGHT IN MACHINE THA HAD MADE A RECORD.

HAD STAGE FRIGHT; MET WITH MISHAP

Alexander Williams Delirious When Picked Up, Saying Some One Had Collided With Him While in the Air.

New York, July 19.—A frightened amateur, sitting like a wooden man, went up at dawn yesterday in Glenn H. Curtiss' aeroplane, which hovered a moment in midair and then crashed to earth. The beautiful craft in which Curtiss made his remarkable flight Saturday was badly wrecked.

When the would-be aviator was lifted from the twisted frame he was delirious, his left arm was broken, his thumb dislocated and his body bruised. His injuries, however, are not serious.

The accident occurred on Hempstead Plain, Mineola, where Curtiss has been giving demonstrations for the New York Aeronautical society, to which he recently sold his aeroplane for $5,000. It was a member of the society, Alexander Williams, 42 years old, who was injured.

While Williams had driven many automobiles, is familiar with gas engines and is somewhat of a machinist, he seemed to lose complete control of himself as the aeroplane soared upward and when it had attained a height of thirty feet the craft careened sharply to the right, swooped toward the earth and striking on end, was turned completely over, then rolled on its back.

Williams remained pinned in his seat until lifted out. As a physician bent over him Williams, in his delirium, muttered that someone had collided with him in the air.

Witnesses of the accident say it was merest chance of a man attempting something which taxes the nerves, the body and the brain simultaneously, and that Williams had stage fright.

Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of much of the pain of maternity; this hour, decreed as woman's severest trial, is not only made less painful, but danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer dependent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, and the system is prepared for the coming event. THE THIRD HOUSE

Sedalia, Mo., July 17.
Editor Democrat-Sentinel.

Your editorial in last Sunday's Democrat-Sentinel on the "Money Sharks" should bring forth words of praise and commendation from all sorts and conditions of men, more particularly from those in business who are carrying accounts from month to month of the laboring class who make a small payment occasionally, but always leave a little balance on the book, and use the remaining part of their weekly wages to give the "Shark."

In past years I have had to my employ in Sedalia men whose services were satisfactory, but whose judgment was bad, and who borrowed money from these Sharks, giving a "mortgage" on salary, earned and unearned.

I call to mind one instance where a loan of $10 was made to one of my men by a "rising young lawyer" in Sedalia, prospective candidate on various occasions for public office where $1 a month was charged for interest, which was paid regularly, and at the end of seven months a claim by the shark was made for a balance due of $16.

On several occasions have I held up the wages of men of family, under attachments issued by the "supreme court of Georgetown, Mo.," who maintains a deputy constable in Sedalia.

It is to be hoped that Prosecuting Attorney Dow will leave no stone unturned in his endeavor to bring to justice these violators of the law. He should have the aid and sympathy of all good citizens in his efforts to suppress this, one of the most dastardly crimes coming under the penal code of this great commonwealth of Missouri.—An Employer of Laboring Men.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy. While Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerves, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, causes nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

DEATH OF JOHN J. LAMM

ONE OF PETTIS COUNTY'S BEST KNOWN CITIZENS DIED ON SATURDAY.

BREATHED HIS LAST AT EVERGREEN FARM

Burial Services at the Methodist Church in Smithton This Afternoon—A Brief Biographical Sketch.

(From Sunday's Daily)

John J. Lamm, one of the best known farmers and stockmen of Central Missouri, a brother of Judge Henry Lamm, of the Missouri supreme court, and also of George B. Lamm, a farmer living east of the city, died at his home, "Evergreen Farm," between Sedalia and Smithton, early Saturday morning, aged 76 years 11 months and 24 days.

Mr. Lamm was one of Pettis county's very best citizens. Three months ago he sustained a stroke of paralysis which was the direct cause of his death yesterday.

He was born at Edinburgh, Lawrence county (then Mercer county), Pa., on July 23, 1832. He went as a lad of 14 years to Wayne county, O. In 1854 he journeyed to the gold diggings in California. He was one of the pioneer settlers in Winnebago county, Ia., in 1856. In 1866 he came to Callaway county, Mo., and that same year settled in Pettis county, on the farm where he died Saturday.

Mr. Lamm was educated in the common schools of Pennsylvania and Ohio; at Westerville University, near Columbus, O.; at Western college, in Iowa, and at the Michigan State University.

He served in the federal army as a member of Co. K, Sixteenth regiment Ohio volunteers, enlisting in 1861, under Captain Van Doorn. Col. De Courcy commanding the regiment, and was discharged for disability while engaged as a recruiting officer at Camp Mansfield, O.

In 1857 Mr. Lamm married Miss Elizabeth Orquitha Weaver, of Carroll county, O., a niece of Bishop Jonathan Weaver, who died in 1860. Of this union there was born one child, now the wife of Maurice Barrett, of Sheridan, Wyo.

In 1874 Mr. Lamm was married to Miss Cora Monroe Elliott, daughter of A. J. Elliott, of Cooper county, Mo. He leaves her as his widow and the nine following children: William Elliott, Charles Edgar, Jay J. George Gordon, Hannah L., Cora B., all residing in Pettis county; Mrs. Wallace Haines and Mrs. Charles Kahrs, of Wichita, Kan., and Mrs. Irwin Rant, of St. Louis.

Mr. Lamm was a devout member of the Methodist Episcopal church, affiliating at Smithton. In politics he was independent, affiliating with the democratic party for several years after coming to Missouri, but later with the republican party. He was a model citizen in all that the term implies, and in their bereavement the family will have the sympathy of the entire community.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Methodist church at Smithton, at 3 o'clock this afternoon the Rev. F. S. Beggs officiating.

WOMAN'S TRUNK SEIZED

ALLEGED SHE FAILED TO MAKE DECLARATION OF DUTY—ABLE GOWNS.

LATE HUSBAND FOUNDED DUN AGENCY

Compromised by Paying the Assessed Duty and a Penalty of 50 Per Cent of the Appraised Value of the Goods.

New York, July 17.—It has been learned that when Mrs. R. G. Dun arrived from abroad on the North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, on June 29, she failed to make a declaration of the dutiable goods brought into this country by her and that her trunks were seized and sent to the appraiser's stores for examination.

Mrs. Mary B. Dun is the widow of R. G. Dun, founder of the large mercantile agency which bears his name.

When the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm docked, Mrs. Dun paid no attention to the customs regulations, and descended the gangplank without presenting declaration papers to the government officers.

Her trunks were seized by a customs inspector and sent to the appraiser's stores, where upon examination they were found to contain $2,000 worth of dutiable merchandise.

Mrs. Dun then appealed to Collector Loeb and ask that her wearing apparel be released on payment of duty and that no criminal prosecutions be instituted against her.

The collector gave Mrs. Dun a hearing and made a compromise. She agreed to pay the assessed duty and penalty of 50 per cent of the appraised value of the goods, alleged to have been smuggled in by her.

John Nicholson, a Paper Hanger, Was the Victim Friday.

(From Sunday's Daily)

John Nicholson, a paper hanger, employed by D. A. Lopp, reported to the police Friday night that he had been robbed of $30 in currency by an unknown negro, of whom he furnished a description.

Mr. Nicholson was hanging paper on Mr. Lopp's new home at 235 South Park avenue. Between 3 and 4 o'clock Friday afternoon a strange negro entered the house, evidently looking over the place.

After he had gone and when Mr. Nicholson had finished his day's work he went to don his street clothes and discovered the absence of $30 in currency, which had been stolen from his trousers pocket.

The theft was reported to the police, but up to a late hour last night no arrest had been made.
